Roadshows

The CSUBUY Project Team hosted Roadshows at each of the first wave campuses in February. The purpose of the Roadshows was to provide information to those impacted by the implementation of CSUBUY P2P.

Different sessions covering specific topics for operational teams, supporting admin teams, campus users and fiscal approvers were offered at each campus, as well as a Town Hall for anyone that would like to ask questions.

In addition to prevalent information, attendees were able to see the application in its most configured state thus far. Additionally, project next steps including training and Go-Live activities were communicated.

CSUBUY Change Management Highlights

Training

Future training will be a blended approach that combines different learning techniques. A multitude of options will be provided to best suit the needs of the targeted users groups, so training is received by users at the time they need it and via their ideal method for learning.

Instructor Led Training (ILT)	Virtual/ Recorded Training	Self-Paced Learning Guides

In person training is strongly preferred and effective method: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Lack of multitasking leads to better absorption of content Allows immediate response to questions Provides the ability to gauge responsiveness of the audience 	Web training with real-time or recorded desk top sharing, voice and video sharing Sessions can be recorded to be reused <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Suits moderately complex to very complex material Allows interaction without requiring travel and classroom Enables cross campus training 	Includes quick reference guides, job aides, interactive user guides and frequently asked questions to provide insight into day-to-day processes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Delivered just-in-time Flexible for ongoing updates and process changes

What does your job at CSU entail?

I manage all the Accounts Payable, Accounts Receivable, and Travel for our University. I am also a problem solver, and self-proclaimed "Master Detangler"!

What are you looking forward to from the new P2P implementation?

I am really looking forward to the streamlining of processes and the visibility of documents as they travel through the workflow. It will be nice to see at any given time what is pending for processing so we can take action early if necessary.

What's something most people don't know about you?

I took piano lessons for 12 years, I played in the William Saroyan Theater twice, and I have a baby grand piano at home. I studied theory and music from a wide variety of genres, including Classical, Romantic, Contemporary, and Baroque.

What's your favorite thing to cook?

One of my favorite things to cook is spaghetti sauce, otherwise known as "Italian Gravy." My husband is half Italian so I learned how to make the sauce from scratch. It is an all day process which consists of lots of meat and vegetables. It cooks the whole day and I stir, stir, stir. My family loves my meatballs that I make to go with it, also from scratch. Once you've had home made, you can never go back to that stuff they sell in a jar!

What's the most recent book you've read or song you listened to?

The most recent song I've listened to and really like is "I'm So Blessed" by CAIN. I like all different kinds of music (especially my 80's music) but this song really inspires me. It's very uplifting!
